Calculator

This is simple calculator. I used addition, reduction, multiplication, and division methods for this calculator. I used java programming language for create this calculator. I upload the programming code into the git hub.

```
🖺 Eile Edit Yiew Navigate Code Refactor Build Run Iools VCS Window Help
                                                                                                                                   Open Fil
 V 📭 Calcul
                           2
                                     3
                   1
                                              +
                           5
                  4
                                     6
                                              *
                  7
                           8
                                     9
                           0
                                                                     num2 = Double.parseDouble(textField.getText());
                   (-)
                               Dlt
                                          Clr
 ▶. Run III TODO ● Problems ♠ Profiler III Terminal ★ Build All files are up-to-date (moments ago)
                                                                                                                                                        ■ Event Log
145:10 CRLF UTF-8 4 spaces 🔓 🧳
```